Opening Markets and Opportunities in the New Japan*

The Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP) is the cornerstone of President Obama's strategy to deepen U.S. economic engagement in the Asia-Pacific. With Japan now part of the negotiations, the historic TPP agreement would cover a third of global trade and 40 percent of global GDP, opening up enormous export opportunities for Texas in the region, particularly in Japan. Ms. Cutler will discuss these opportunities and the challenges that remain with Japan in the negotiations.
